

This Privacy Policy explains how The Technically Employable (“we”, “us”, or “our”) collects, uses, and protects your personal data when you visit and interact with our website.

1. Who We Are

This website is operated by The Technically Employable. For the purposes of applicable data protection law, The Technically Employable is the “data controller” of your personal information.

If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy, you can contact The Technically Employable: gdpr@example.com

2. What Information We Collect

We do not use tracking cookies on this site.

We only collect personal data that you voluntarily provide when filling out forms on this site. This may include:

- Your email address

3. How We Use Your Information

We may use the information you provide for the following purposes:

- To send you digital communications such as updates, or other information you have requested or consented to receive.
- To respond to any enquiries you submit through the website.

4. Sharing Your Information

We do not sell your personal data.

We may share your personal data with third-party service providers who help us deliver digital communications. These service providers are required to handle your data securely and in accordance with data protection laws.

5. Data Retention

We may retain your personal data indefinitely, unless you request its deletion. This helps us to continue providing you with information or services you have previously opted into.

6. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. When we do, we will revise the “Effective Date” at the top of this page. We encourage you to review this policy periodically to stay informed about how we are protecting your information.

7. Contact

For any privacy-related questions, or to exercise your rights, please contact The Technically Employable at gdpr@example.com
